Building permits top $1.3 million

Hancock General Hospital's $215,000 addition led commercial building permits issued during the last half of 1964. Electrical contracts on the same project, plus a $33,000 Jitney-Jungle addition and $5,000 worth of expansion at Edward Electric brought final for Bay St. Louis to totals over a quarter of a million dollars.

Residential construction held firm with $189,700 in permits issued for 19 new dwellings. Additions, garages, alterations and remodeling licenses amounted to a further $23,775 while one approved application authorized construction of a swimming pool.

Although slightly lower than 1963's total of $1,770,830, this year's figure of $1,343,076 represents a greater cross section of construction. Included last year (1963) were permits for the erection of three apartment projects whose combined value equalled $1,025,000, leaving only three-quarters of a million dollars for all other types of building.

Residential permits issued in the last six months included: John J. McDonald, seven units, MaMac, Inc., two residences, Laurence Englert, Mrs. Fred Hartly, Mrs. H. M. Key, James Ginn, and Mrs. Viola S. Carver, Charles Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Ingalls, and Vernon Lechner, one each.

Permits issued for repairs, alterations, residential garages remodeling and additions covered: Frank W. Lagarde, A. Schneider, Leon L. Doerflin, F.J. Hobbs, P.J. Benvenuti, Maurice F. Egan, Loraine Flower Shop, Herbert G. Shiu, Alvin Fane, Manuel Nero, E.J. Marango, Fahey Drug Co., Pauline B. White, Miss Hazel Weber, J.F. Kimmel, Anthony Loyacano, Sheldon Sautzmann, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ingram, Anthony Gilbert, Mrs. Maybelle Coughlan, Frank Necaise, Ellen Williams, Warren To-masich, Jr., E. Depreo, Polly Fagan, Johnnie C. Davis, Gordon Ashley, Norbert T. Kramer, Sylvan J. Lechner, Jr., for a combined total of $29,775.

Construction plans were approved, and a permit issued, for a swimming pool for W. Whitfield.

Tenn Gas tops utility values

Hancock County's public utility assessment for 1964 climbed more than one-third of a million dollars over last year, according to figures released by the Public Service Commission. The new total is $4,249,353 against $3,867,628. This represents a gain of $382,525.

Tennessee Gas Pipeline Corp.'s assessment now stands at $1,515,000 for the county against $1,402,900 in 1963 for the largest single figure. Biggest increase appears to be that of Southern Bell Telephone Co. which is up from $541,180 to $735,268.

There is one addition to the public utility assessment list this year—New Orleans and Northeastern Railroad—at $19,960. This is the Southern Railway subsidiary's spur into Mississippi Test Operations. Of the total $8,120 is in the county school district and $11,840 in the Piquette Municipal Separate School District.

Other assessments with the 1964 figure listed first and last year's second are: Pullman Co., $8,416, $11,442; American Telephone and Telegraph, $99,850 and $95,500; Railway Express Agency, $868, same; Western Union, $6,225, same; Louisville and Nashville Railroad Co., $463,541 and $476,588; United Gas, $608,120 and $604,320; Mississippi Power Co., $785,105 and $721,803; Shippers Co., $7,000, same.

Total assessment for the county school district this year is $2,827,552 against $2,541,004 last year. Utility assessment for the Bay St. Louis school district is up to $1,065,910 from $970,552 while Piquette school district's figure is at $355,891 against $356,292 a year ago.

Beat 5's road district assessment is now $1,281,698 compared with $1,191,104 last year while Bay St. Louis' share is $671,103, up from $583,668 and Waveland has grown from $186,279 to $192,121 this year. Beat 4's road district assessment is $559,625.

Waveland child hit on Yule bike, dies

Three-year-old Gary Develle Sunday became this year's seventh traffic fatality in Hancock County.

Playing in front of his Far-rar Lane home in Waveland at approximately 11:30 a.m. Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Develle, Jr., suddenly turned his new Christmas bicycle towards the street and rode into the path of a car driven by Mrs. R.F. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson, a neighbor, driving her children to church said she did not see the child prior to the mishap.

Rushed to Hancock General Hospital, the child died at about 2 p.m.

Religious rites were Monday at St. Clare's Catholic Church, Waveland, with burial in Waveland Cemetery. Riemann's Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home handled arrangements.

A coroner's jury, consisting of Emile Piazza, coroner; Sylvan Lechner, bailiff; Lathan Gariga, Fred Curet, Eido Depreo, Robert Bobinger, Edward Wyatt and J.T. Jacobs, ruled the death as accidental due to an automobile accident.

Gary is survived by his parents, two brothers, Kenneth J. and Henry L. Develle, III, all of Waveland, one sister, Mrs. Gayle Webb of New Orleans; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Henry L. Develle, Waveland.

Span up in fog

Buses crash on bridge

Serious injury was narrowly averted on the Bay St. Louis highway bridge last Saturday morning when two busses filled with high school girls, were involved in a multi-vehicle pile-up.

As the fog shrouded bridge, women driver span had failed to close due to a burned out bridge transformer, five cars swerved across the road while playing with fireworks. The driver of the vehicle took the child to the hospital.

Fricke boy is struck by car

James Fricke, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Fricke of U.S. 90, was taken to Catholic Clinic after receiving emergency treatment at Hancock General for injuries received when he was struck by an automobile on Christmas Day.

Seconds later the second bus in convoy slammed into the rear of its stationary partner.

Hearing the noise of the multiple collision from his control position on the bridge, assistant superintendent Robert Miller telephoned the Highway Patrol. Their prompt arrival enabled order to be restored although the bridge remained blocked until a mechanic, called in from Hattiesburg, repaired the damage at approximately by 10:30 a.m. This action permitted emergency units to be towed away and a uniform traffic pattern established within the hour. The mishap occurred about 8 a.m.

The busses, all from St. Mary's Catholic High School, New Orleans, were on a class trip to Washington and Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Patrolman J.A. McNeil, assisted by Patrolman T.G. Green, investigated the accident and reported that the second of the two charter buses involved, apparently failed to stop and swerved the other vehicle into one another. Characters following too close and reckless driving, was bus driver, Florio of Pennsylvania.

Admitted to hospital following injuries.

A guest editorial

Fireworks are an integral part of our Christmas celebrations. Employed in their correct role - that of a fun giving additive, they adequately supply our young folk with a means of letting off some explosion packed holiday steam.

Beneath the fireworks' gaudy and brightly beckoning exterior, tightly compounded ingredients silently await the glowing ember. Upon ignition, and subsequent discharge, the mixture rapidly expands and shatters its container. Normally, at the resultant explosion, we jump for joy.

There can be variations.

Too short a fuse - a face full of flying fagots;

Too long a hold - a bloody hand, minus a couple of fingers;

Too direct an aim - an eye lost, or a face disfigured;

Too careless a match - severe burns and body lacerations.

The repayment of caution - is a happy festive season!

Medals for valor are not presented youthful idiots who ignite a string of firecrackers on somebody's tinder dry house porch, then speed away in a 'vintage rod' prior to the noisy result of their stupid action. Brave? Nuts! Should a conflagration result or the victim, or his family, suffer harm, the good owed debt can never be repaid.

Honest enjoyment, not sneaky mean laughter at another's expense - is a happy festive season!

It is not funny to maim, burn, terrorize, or shock domestic animals, who cannot see any fun at all in fireworks. Instinct tells animals when to be frightened and we have no form of communication with them that will explain any situation to the contrary.

Kindness to all - is a happy festive season!

Let us remember this holiday season as the merriest on record, and not the one in which we burned the town down flat and maimed half our inhabitants with an over zealous display of misdirected pyrotechnics. - N.J.

Good prospects

Pictured on this page are a few of the construction projects still in process this week in the Bay-Waveland area. This does not include any of the homes but is merely an indication of some of the progress made during 1964.

Upcoming '65 will find even more construction - the new schools and the Bay's improved utility system alone will account for over $4,000,000 and a lot of torn up streets. And new businesses are sure to move in soon. T & Y's doubling of space and Sears branch are but signs of things to come.

Mississippi State's business activity index continues to show Bay St. Louis as the State leader with 385 for October compared to 180 the previous year. This index is still suspect by us as misleading on the plus side but there's no doubt we're booming. And next year will be better economic wise.

Along with all this are increased taxes and we believe more to come. By the time the present addition to the hospital is completed we think we'll need another. By the time the present city school program is finished, we believe we'll need another elementary school at least. If the proposed county school bond issue receives the needed voter support it will only provide the minimum for our current population and we're growing and growing fast.

Yes, economically things look good and we believe will look better as 1965 progresses, but to take full advantage of our opportunities we still have a lot of improvements to make in our communities. A lot of the water runs have to be tax financed, but have you looked around your house lately?

Seas should be here soon

Hospital addition well on way

A Conservative View

By James J. Kilpatrick

An enterprising young gentleman in a certain Eastern city, having meditated at length upon the conventional nature of the world we live in, is thinking seriously of organizing a new corporation to be known as Pressure Groups, Inc.

He proposes, for a modest fee, to offer administrative, secretarial, and fiscal services—especially fiscal services—to pressure groups in need of a mailing address. He reasons that as long as this republic is dominated by organizations espousing a Cause, a need exists for a corporation espousing the organization.

My friend is utterly amoral about all this. He is non-principled. The egalitarianism of the day has done him in; all causes, in his book, are equally equal. Thus he proposes, on the one hand, to contribute his executive talents to the war upon smut; and on the other hand, to provide his services to the defenders of freedom. The spin-hummers are mostly disorganized messes, PTA presidents, and misguided reverends; they need an experienced professional to spot copies of "Catcher in the Rye" in local libraries and to prepare appropriate resolutions of outrage. By the same token, the apostles of free speech are even more disorganized, the freedom in our land must always hold much less attraction than sin. Reaching for another letdown, the founder of Pressure Groups, Inc., would dash off a Millionaire rebuttal in the name of the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation of First Amendment Rights.

Some years ago, in a burst of uncharacteristic activism, your correspondent fell into the bad company of a famous New York editor, a Southerner by birth and a conservative by nature. As the ink flowed, an idea blossomed for revival of the Whig Party. The copyright surely had expired; the name appeared to rest in the public domain; no other Whigs were known to be alive. Mr. Eisenhower was President.

We fell to the task. He was to be the national chairman, if memory serves, but we both went to London as treasurers, such is the sanctified nature of Southern boys in their dealings with Southern boys. It remained only to contrive a proper letdown, and the party would be brought back to life. In the confusion of the moment, my thought is, I am sure, that I was at once abandoned. The first chairman was a triangle of the chairman's name. I began to write with an ink-blot American eagle, in which I had appeared, standing in appropriate leading portraits in some of our press. Then the left stretched a ladder of progressive names, mostly false, or fellow traveling members. The bottom was done up with national portraits, mottoes, some quotations of Calhoun, and a row of 48 stars. It really was beautiful. The first issue of General Harrison, the Whig paper, featured a spread from the engraver's portfolio like a rough eye stare on a picture of parody. Our motto was "Disunion and no more."

The trouble was, we had left no room in which a letter could be written. Every appeal for funds got as far as "Dear Sir," but no further. Without funds, the movement collapsed. The printer and engraver conspired, the left-wing letdown, failed to the back, and used them for better action. Nothing of the Whig Party remains.

There is a lesson in this for pressure groups everywhere. If you're after cash, let the credits go. My favorite young friend will doubtless take it to heart.

Will they carry it all? Or will they drop it?

WASHINGTON - Inside fact is that once again Ambassador Maxwell Taylor was caught napping in South Viet Nam. The reason: turnover in which the military seized control from civilian was accomplished without any falling to the ambassador.

Once before when there was a military coup d'etat in Saigon, Ambassador Taylor was on the beach at Waikiki sunning himself. A great soldier and an efficient foreigner, Gen. Taylor is probably not so green as he is an ambassador. Henry Cabot Lodge, when he returned to Ambassador in South Viet Nam, warned Taylor to keep his eyes on the ground and the Buddhists and other political factions. Taylor did not listen.

Meanwhile, Gen. William Westmoreland, the U.S. commander, has reported to the Pentagon that he is against the communist guerrillas in Viet Nam. He is a dramatic move to reverse the tide. He recommended that again the bombing of North Viet Nam be resumed.

With Gen. Clark and Westmoreland in the United States, and with Ambassador Taylor in Saigon, the President Johnson has been forced to appoint a new ambassador. Johnson has been forced to appoint a new ambassador.

Airman Raymond and members of his unit were selected for the award for promoting United States-Japanese good will through their humanitarian efforts. They initiated and supported "Operation Bystander," which has gained nationwide attention in Japan.

The airman, assigned at Misawa as a communications operations specialist, is a graduate of North High School. His wife, Gail, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Banderet of 806 S. Monmouth Ave., Bay St. Louis.

Funds raised by the Air Force unit are administered by the Iwate Medical College at Morioka City and are used to pay hospital fees and costs of medical supplies for the eye operations.
